The Cotswold Savoyards Proudly Presents
Stephen Sondheim's

The
Playhouse Theatre

A Little Night Music

We hope that you were able to get along and enjoy our production of Broadway Pirates in May at The Everyman Theatre. In November, we shall be staging Stephen Sondheim's A Little Night Music at The Playhouse. We are pleased to welcome back Caroline Young as Director (who directed our last Sondheim musical Follies in 2015) and she has teamed up with Sue Black as Musical Director to form a formidable duo!

Stage Director, Caroline Young says "The place is here, the time is now and almost every body is getting close to every body! 'Making Whoppee' is alive and well and set to music! The scintillating sound of Cotswold Savoyards is raised to new heights when combined with Stephen Sondheim's sophisticated music and lyrics. No holds are barred as cheeky couples collide, canoodle, cavort and then create newsome twosomes! It's superb singing combined with sensual sexuality... Don't miss it!"
